Item 4 – President's Report

Clive summarised his report

PRRES 2020 - Presidents Report.

I would like to begin my report by thanking the members of the PRRES Board for their support through the year. I would particularly like to thank the Exco Team, Neville, Chyi-Lin, Hera and Sara for all their hard work and dedication to the society. I would also like to mention Ken for his quick turn around in emailing communications to members and Dulani for her dedication to chasing us all to pull together the PRRES Newsletter.

The 25th Annual Press Conference in Melbourne was a great success although for personal reasons I was unable to attend I understand everything went very smoothly. A big thank-you to Chris and Bill for making this all happen with apparent ease, although we all know there is a lot of hard work that goes into making a conference a success.

Once again we are indebted to Hera as treasurer for ensuring that PRRES remains in a very solid financial state and that we are complying with all the red tape imposed by government. We are also further indebted to her for organising this years conference, no mean achievement when for the first time we are holding the conference away from the organisers home base.

This year has seen another round of the Australian Business Deans Council Journal rankings. Thank you to David Parker for once again pressing the case for our journal to be recognised for the quality research journal that it is. It is unfortunate that the Business Deans do not seem to recognise real estate research and failed to change any property related journals ranking again this time. During the year the Board also called for nominations from the membership for a Deputy Editor to assist David with the work of administering the Journal. I was please that Hera Antoniadis was appointed to this role.

Our sponsors are an important part of maintaining the financial situation of the society and also an important link to industry. This year we have renegotiated with our three main sponsors. Argus Estate Master have renewed their sponsorship and once again have organised the Estate Master case competition. PRRES has also renewed our links with the API and RICS through their sponsorship of the society and also their contribution to the conference. Our links to the professional bodies are important to the membership, our students and our accredited universities and I would like to thank both API and RICS for recognising the importance of PRRES as a link between them and our academic institutions.

Finally I would like to highlight the important role that IRES plays in coordinating all of the sister real estate societies. PRRES is an active participant within the IRES Board and this year saw the publication by IRES of a Statement of Support for Academic Freedom. As researchers it is important that we are free to publish evidence based research without the fear governments will seek to limit our freedoms. If you have not read this statement I urge you to visit www.iresnet.net to download the statement.

Once again thank to the membership for their support throughout my term as President an wish Chyi-Lin all the best for the year to come.

Clive Warren
President
